LEADERSHIP FOR THE FUTURE

SELECTION TO ATTEND THE AIR COMMAND AND STAFF COLLEGE IS A DISTINCTION IN ITSELF. ALTHOUGH THE FORMAL COURSE IS LESS THAN A YEAR LONG, ITS INFLUENCE ON THE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OF PEOPLE WHO ATTEND THIS SCHOOL FORMS THE FOUNDATION FOR LEADERSHIP IN THE FUTURE. THIS YEARBOOK REFLECTS THE DAILY ACTIVITIES, EVENTS, AND PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS THAT HAVE BEEN A PART OF THIS EXPERIENCE. COMSTAFF '81 IS DEDICATED TO THE IDEALS OF LEADERSHIP — PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE.

STANLEY M. UMSTEAD, JR.
Lieutenant General, USAF
Commander, Air University

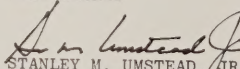

To the Class of 1981

This yearbook will serve as a permanent reminder of your assignment at the Air Command and Staff College. The yearbook's theme of Leadership for the Future is totally appropriate for the tasks that lie ahead of you.

The lessons you have learned and the personal and professional friendships you have made during this year will be of continuing great value as you accept the leadership responsibilities of future assignments. I am confident that you will meet the challenges which the nation holds for graduates of the Air Command and Staff College.

I take pride in your accomplishments, and I know you will excel in your future endeavors.

Best wishes

STANLEY M. UMSTEAD, JR.
Lieutenant General, USAF
Commander, Air University

RICHARD A. INGRAM
Brigadier General, USAF
Commandant, Air Command
and Staff College

To the Class of 1981

Congratulations on completing a personal and professional milestone in your career.

During the past year, you have had the opportunity to broaden your skills in the areas essential to your development as a leader in the Armed Forces. Your success here will not be measured by how much you have learned but, rather, by how well you will apply your newly acquired knowledge.
The years ahead will continue the challenge that you accepted here at the Air Command
and Staff College.

I look forward to meeting that challenge with you in future assignments and extend my best wishes for your continued success.

Sincerely

RICHARD A. INGRAM
Brigadier General, USAF
Commandant
Air Command and Staff College

We came eager to accept the challenge —

— and found time for some light reading.

Seminars, lectures,
and discussions
led to questions —

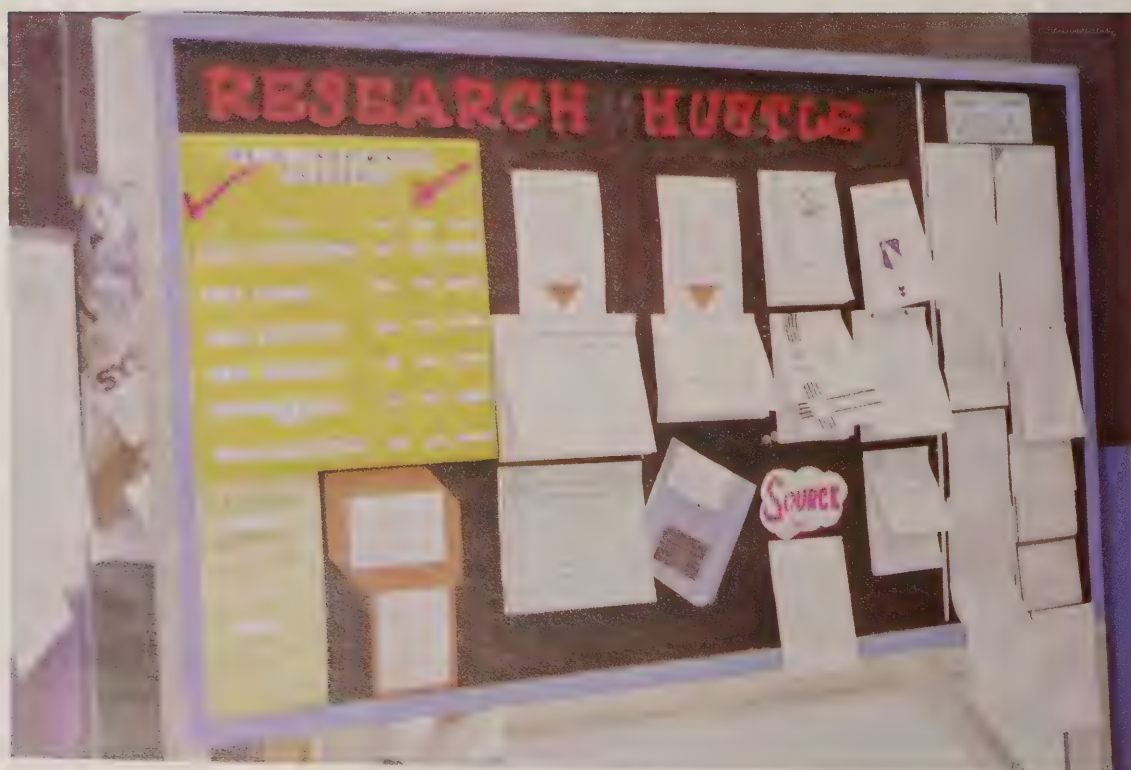

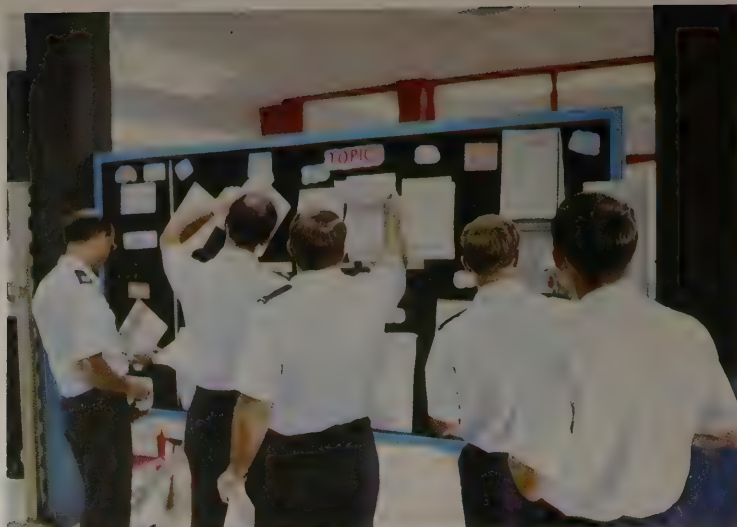

— and answers.

We discovered that 75% of research is search —

— and learned from other nations
as they learned from us.

Of course,
there was time
for other activities —

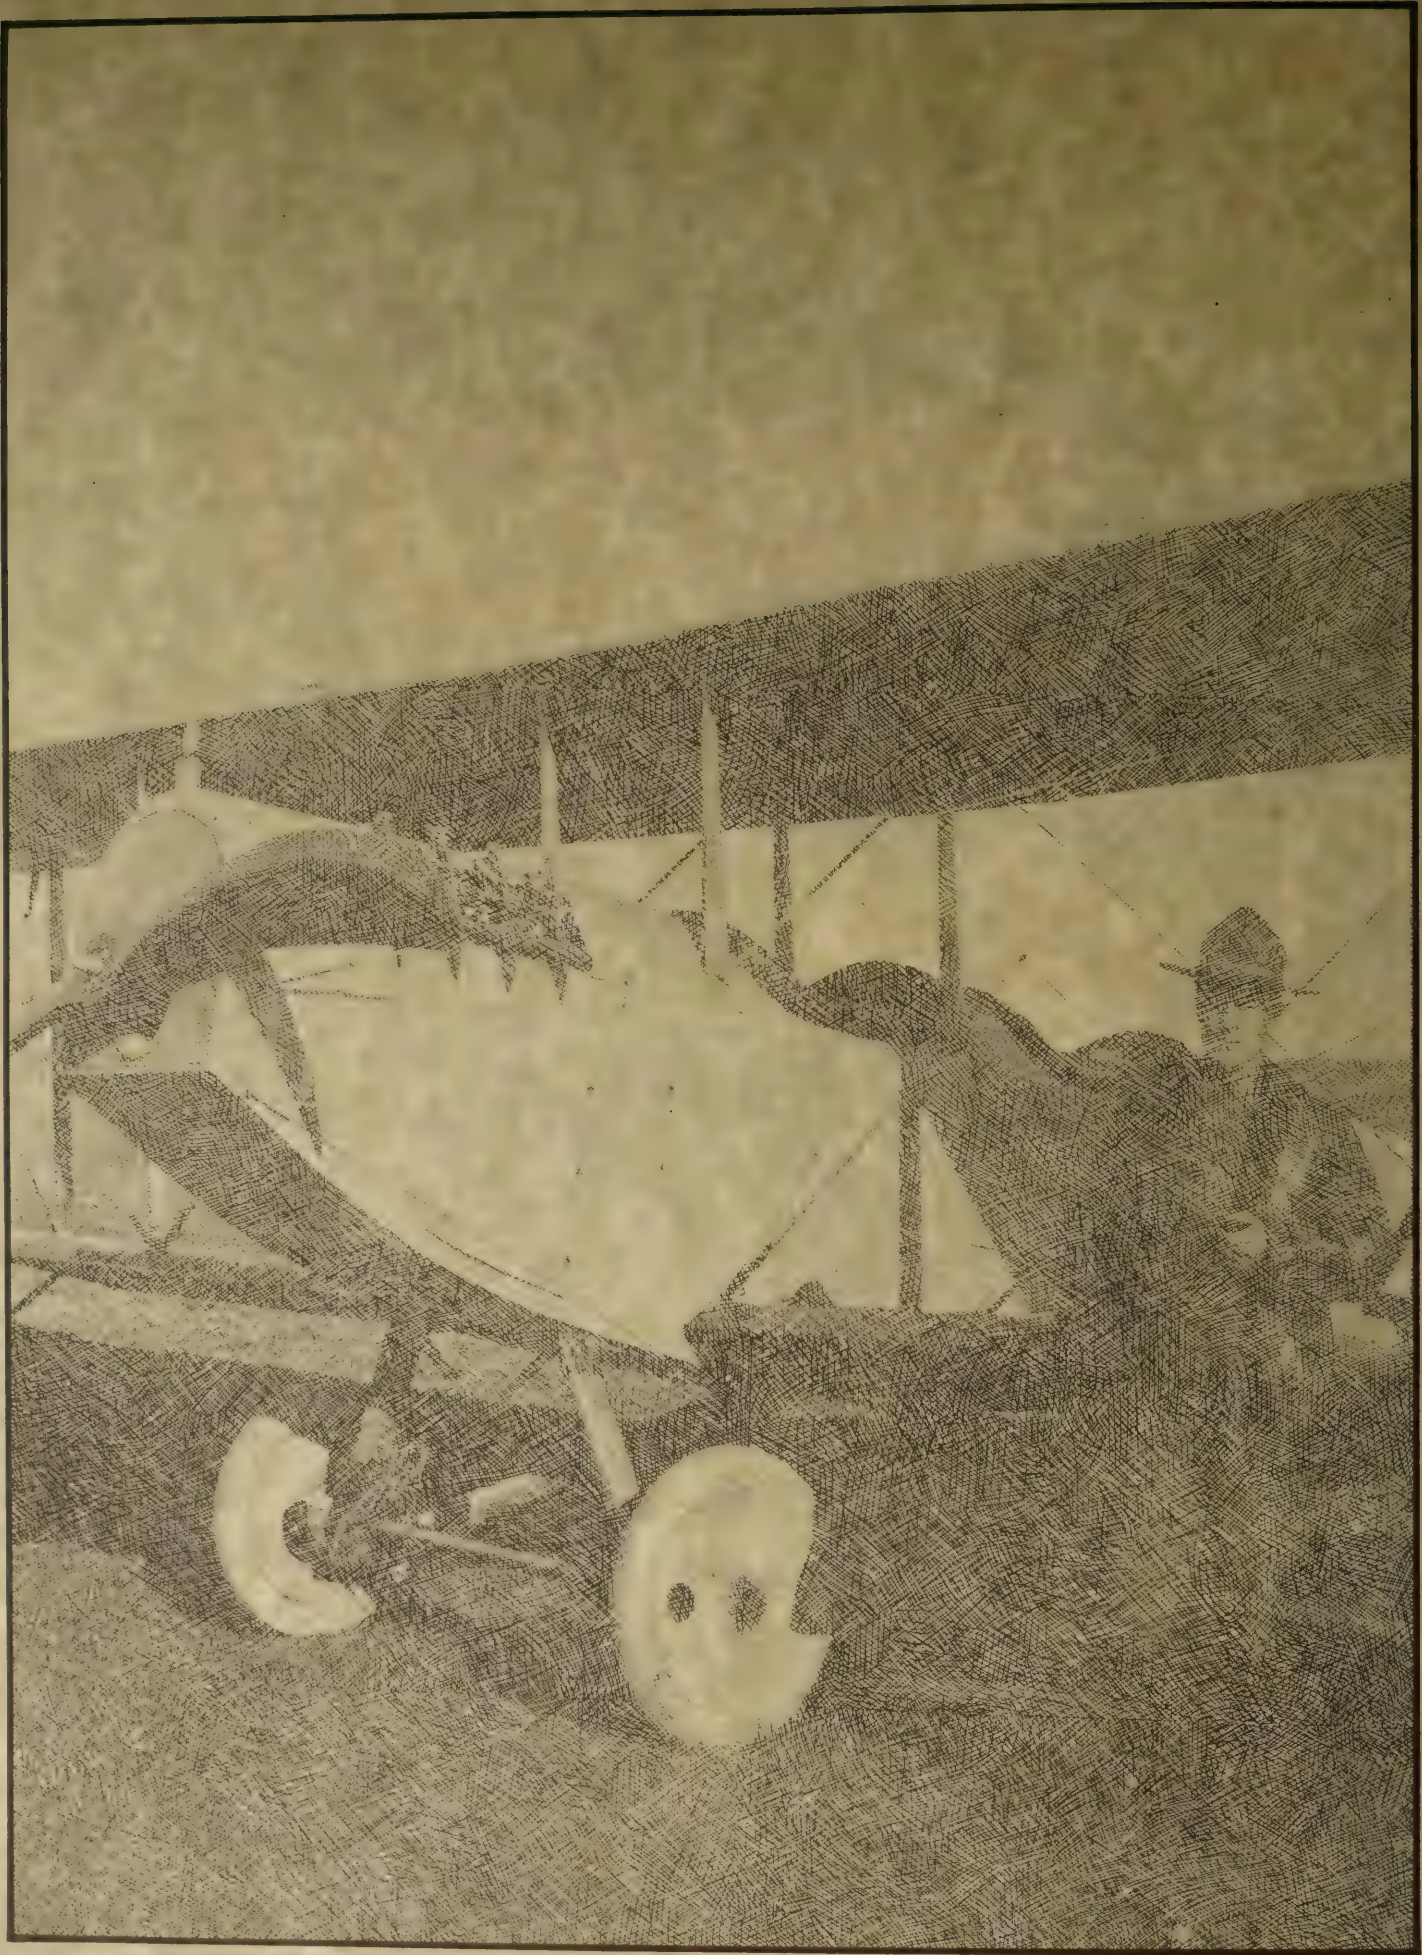

LEADERSHIP FROM THE PAST

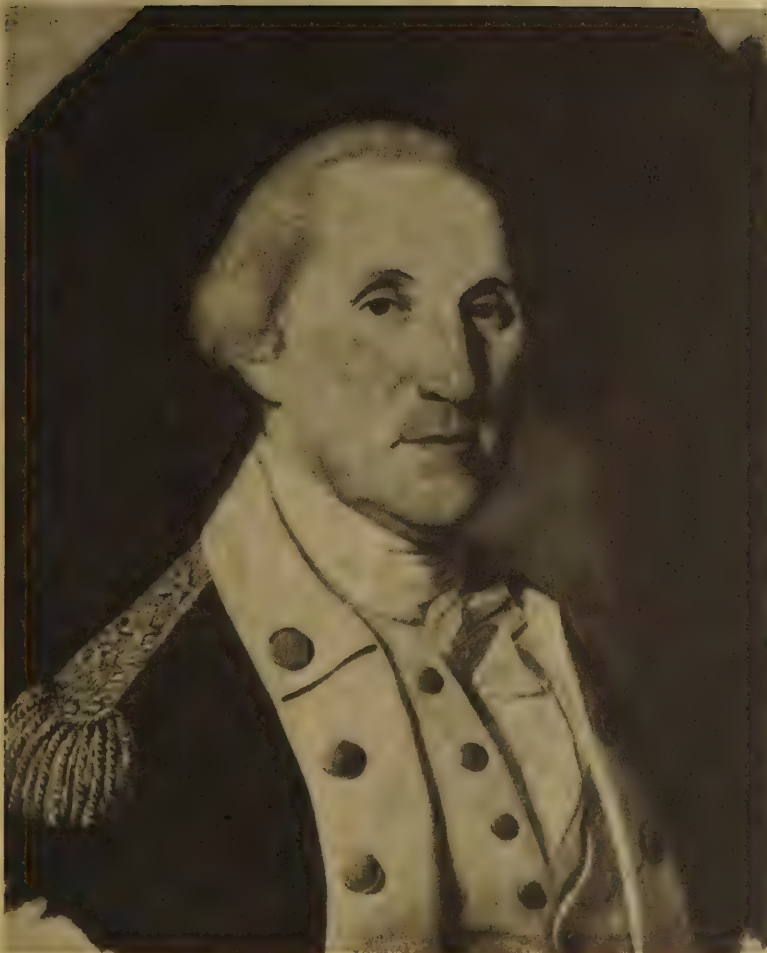

More than most professions, the military is forced to depend upon intelligent interpretation of the past for signposts charting the future. Devoid of opportunity in peace for self-instruction through actual practice of his profession, the soldier makes a maximum use of historical record in assuring the readiness of himself and his command to function efficiently in emergency.

— General of the Army Douglas MacArthur

Theory leaves it to the military leader to act according to his own courage, according to his spirit of enterprise and his self-confidence. Make your choice, therefore, according to the inner force; but never forget that no military leader has ever become great without audacity.

— Carl von Clausewitz

The honor and success of the Army and the safety of our Country depend upon harmony and good agreement with each other; . . . he will be the best soldier and best patriot who contributes most to this glorious work, whatever his station, or from whatever part of the Continent he may come.

— General George Washington

Duty is the sublimest word in our language. Do your duty in all things. You cannot do more. You should never wish to do less.

— General Robert E. Lee

The art of war is simple enough. Find out where your enemy is. Get at him as soon as you can. Strike at him as hard as you can and as often as you can and keep moving on.

— General Ulysses S. Grant

Observing combat conditions from the Entrepénant — the first military use of balloons, 1794.

U.S. Ace of Aces, Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, with his famous Hat-in-Ring Spad 13 of World War I flying fame.

A competent leader can get efficient service from poor troops, while on the contrary, an incapable leader can demoralize the best of troops.

— General John Pershing

The fruits of one's willingness to work and learn in this land of ours are unlimited – always providing he keeps his feet on the ground and thinks in terms of fundamentals and is never influenced by the easy way around, or glib promises of horizons without effort.

— Captain Eddie Rickenbacker

We must excel and this excelling must be a continuous thing. Once a nation has dropped behind in its development, it is like making a stern chase, and a very difficult undertaking again to get the lead. It is entirely impossible of accomplishment without great knowledge and ability at the top.

— Brigadier General Billy Mitchell

Remember this: the truly great leader overcomes all difficulties, and campaigns and battles are nothing but a long series of difficulties to overcome. The lack of equipment, the lack of food, the lack of this or that are only excuses; the real leader displays his qualities in his triumph over adversity, however great it may be.

— General of the Army
George C. Marshall

General Billy Mitchell's bombers shatter the USS Alabama. The ship shudders from the impact of a 300-pound bomb dropped from a Martin B-2.

I am sure that if every leader who goes into battle will promise himself that he will come out either a conqueror or corpse, he is sure to win.

— General George S. Patton, Jr.

A matter of concern to thoughtful airmen is the question of military air leadership. Success in air battles, success in building up air power, will depend in a large degree on the quality of leadership.

— General of the Air Force H.H. Arnold

Fairness, diligence, sound preparation, professional skill, and loyalty are the marks of American military leadership.

— General of the Army Omar N. Bradley

A good soldier, whether he leads a platoon or an Army, is expected to look backward as well as forward; but he must only think forward.

— General of the Army
Douglas MacArthur

A platoon leader doesn't get his platoon to go by getting up and shouting and saying, "I am smarter; I am bigger; I am stronger; I am the leader." He gets men to go along with him because they want to do it for him and they believe in him.

— General of the Army
Dwight D. Eisenhower

A Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress is seen flying through clouds thick with flak.

Armed with thousands of pounds of bombs, a B-52 Stratofortress finds its target in Southeast Asia.

This evening the gunners are down at the range learning how to hit a moving target, and some of the pilots who flew raggedly on the mission today are now out practicing formation flying. I don't mind being called tough, since I find in this racket it's the tough guys who lead the survivors.

— General Curtis E. LeMay

It is time for a new generation of leadership, to cope with new problems and new opportunities. For there is a new world to be won.

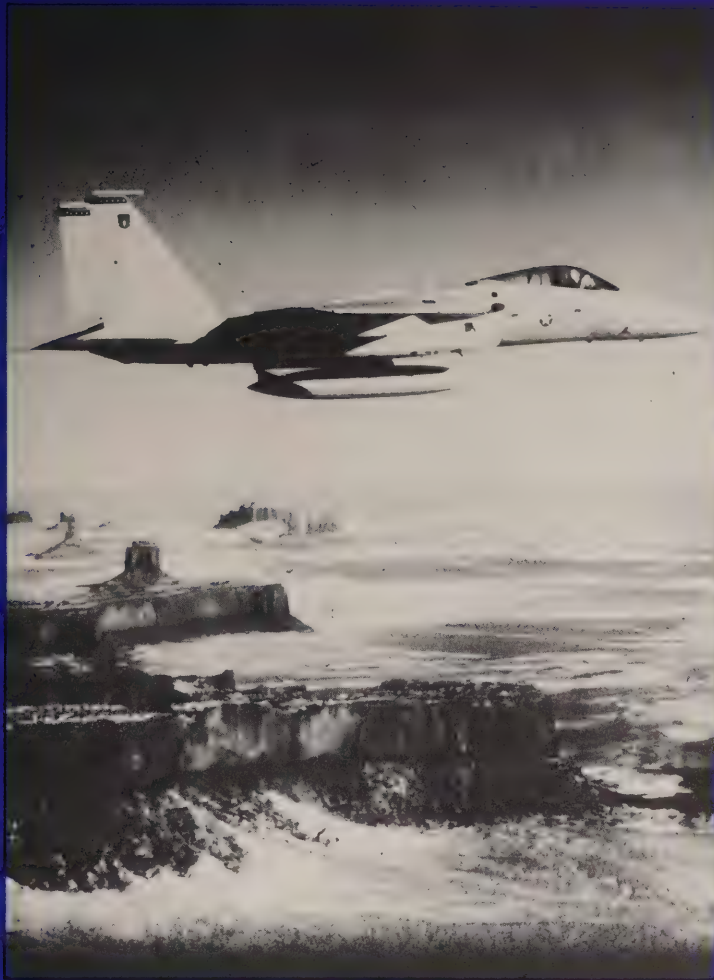

— John F. Kennedy

Aerospace leadership has brought us from a proud past —

— to today's triumphs.

LEADERSHIP IN THE PRESENT

Men instinctively rally to the leadership of strong, bold, and inspiring leaders who demonstrate their qualification for leadership by adopting sensible courses of action and who have the will to follow through and overcome all difficulties until victory is obtained.

WgCdr Nigel Baldwin, Her Majesty's Representative

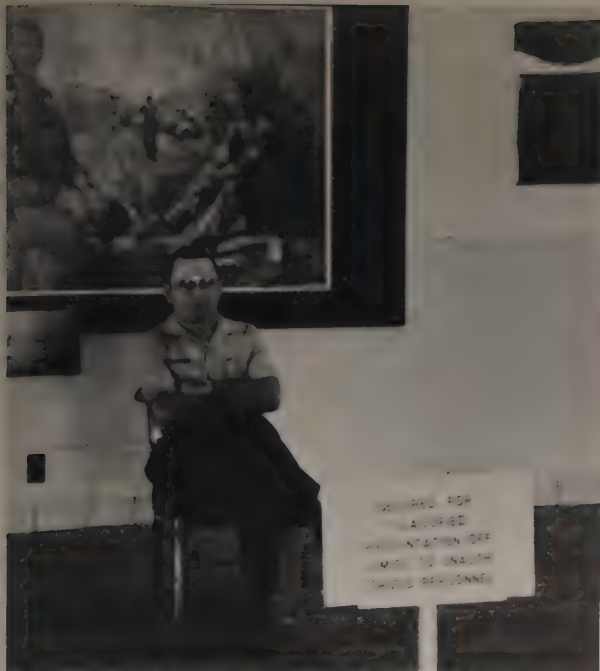

"What did they teach me at ACSC? That's a good question, General. I certainly learned a lot of things about PPBS, JOPS, JSPD and about where the world was.

"Leadership? Why sure, General, we spent a couple of weeks on that. But ask me anything about supply and logistics and I'm sure I could answer the question.

"My answer sounds evasive? Yes, General, I guess it does, but isn't that the sign of a well trained staff officer?"

ACTIVITIES

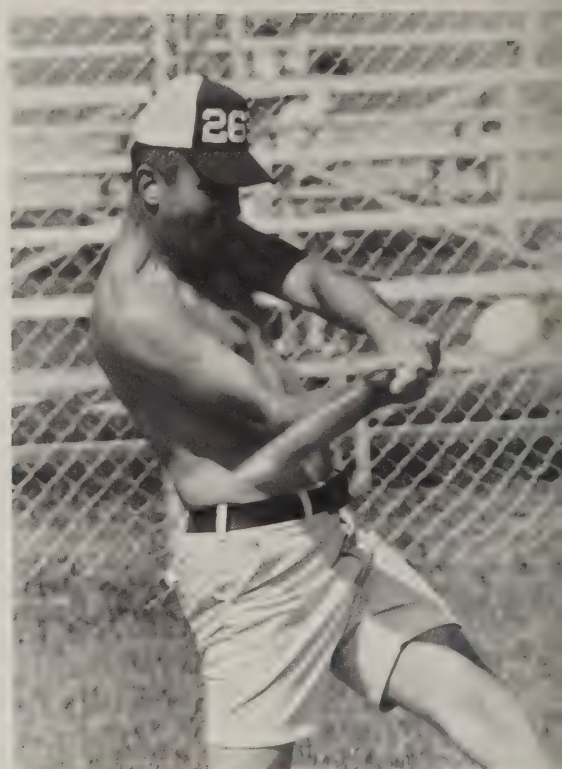

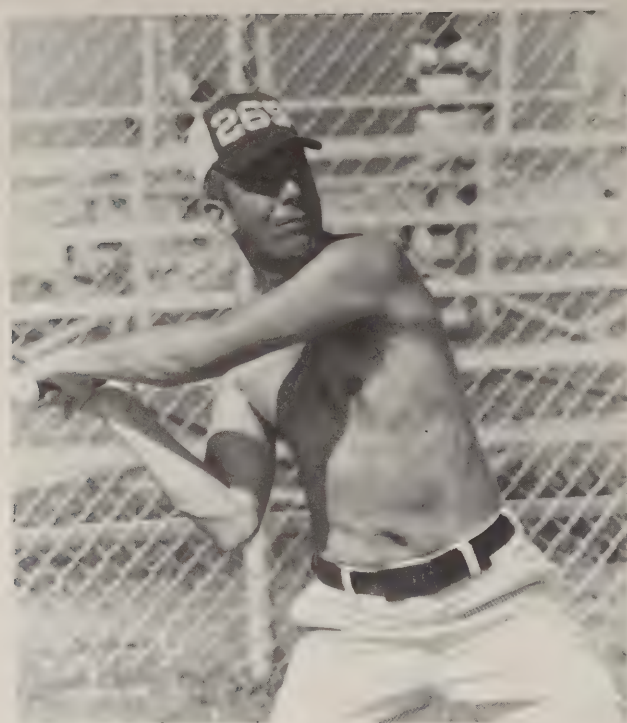

.....AND, IF ELECTED, I PROMISE
TO DO AWAY WITH RESEARCH PROJECTS AT
ALL MILITARY P.M.E. SCHOOLS.....

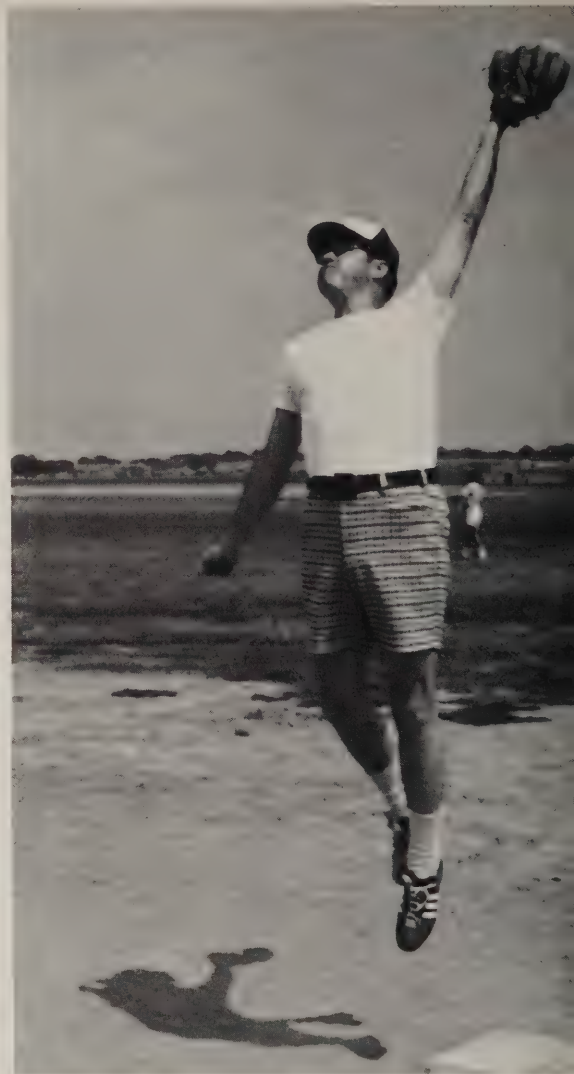

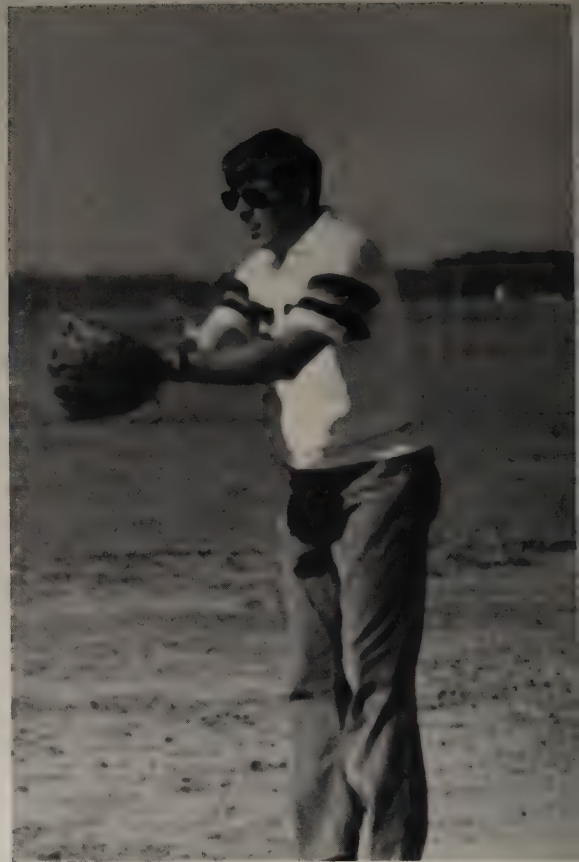

Sports were an integral part of our year at ACSC and provided a mix of cooperation and competition. Although we each picked our own way to get through the Long Haul we all participated in softball.

Some found divine inspiration in the way they played —

ACSC Softball was more than a game — it was a happening.

THE ACSC FALL SOFTBALL CHAMPIONS — SEMINAR 31

Although the ACSC intramural football team didn't win, they did improve their opponents' records —

THE ACSC VOLLEYBALL CHAMPIONS — SEMINAR 17

BASKETBALL

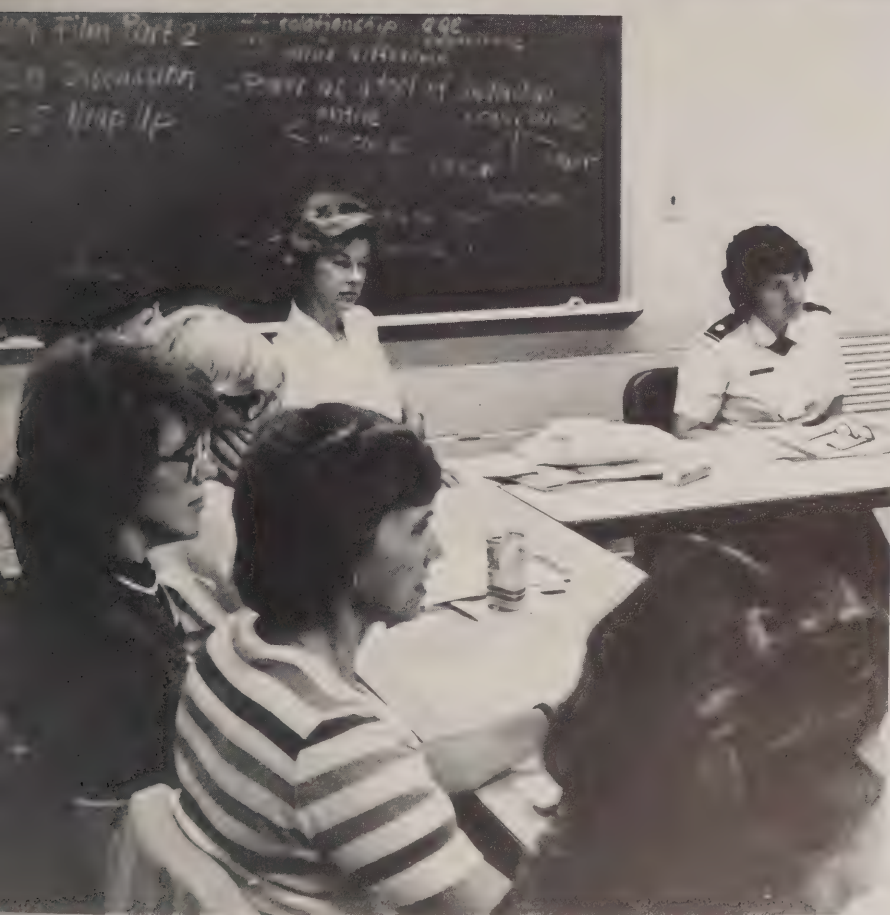

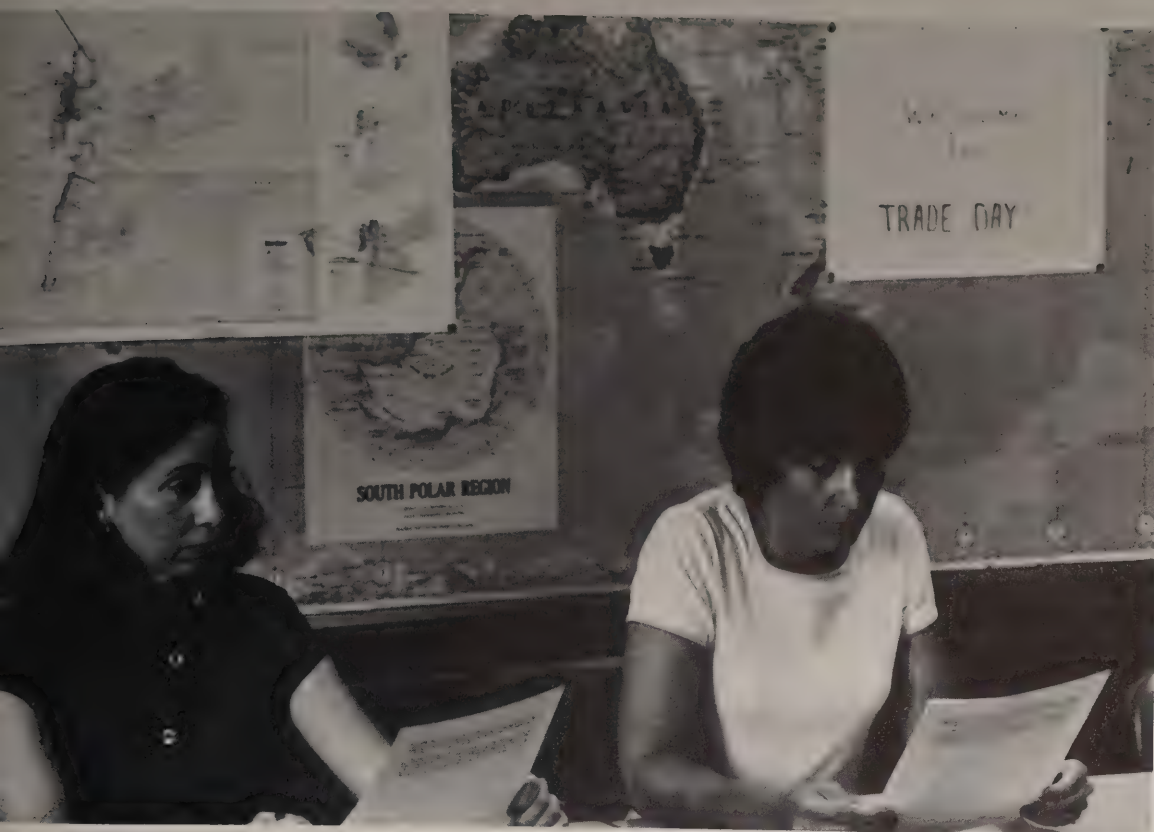

THE TURKEY TROT — an annual race for wild turkeys.

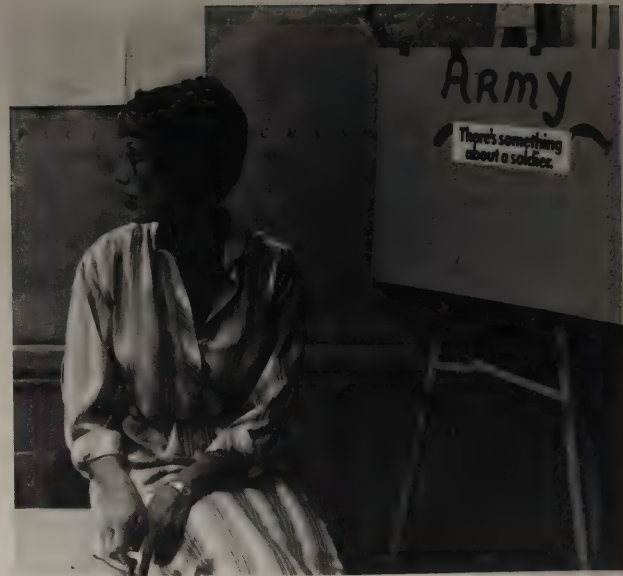

THE WINNERS!

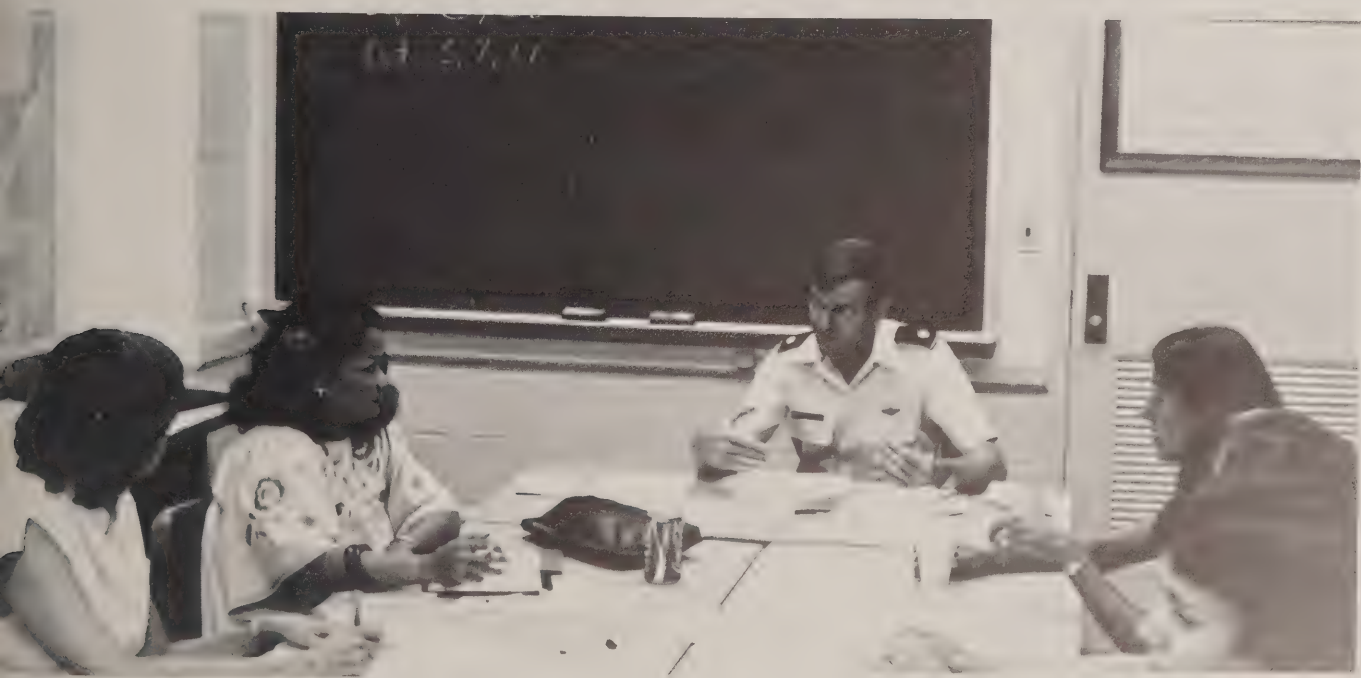

ACSC provided a unique opportunity for wives and families to participate in many activities, and helped our families understand more about our profession.

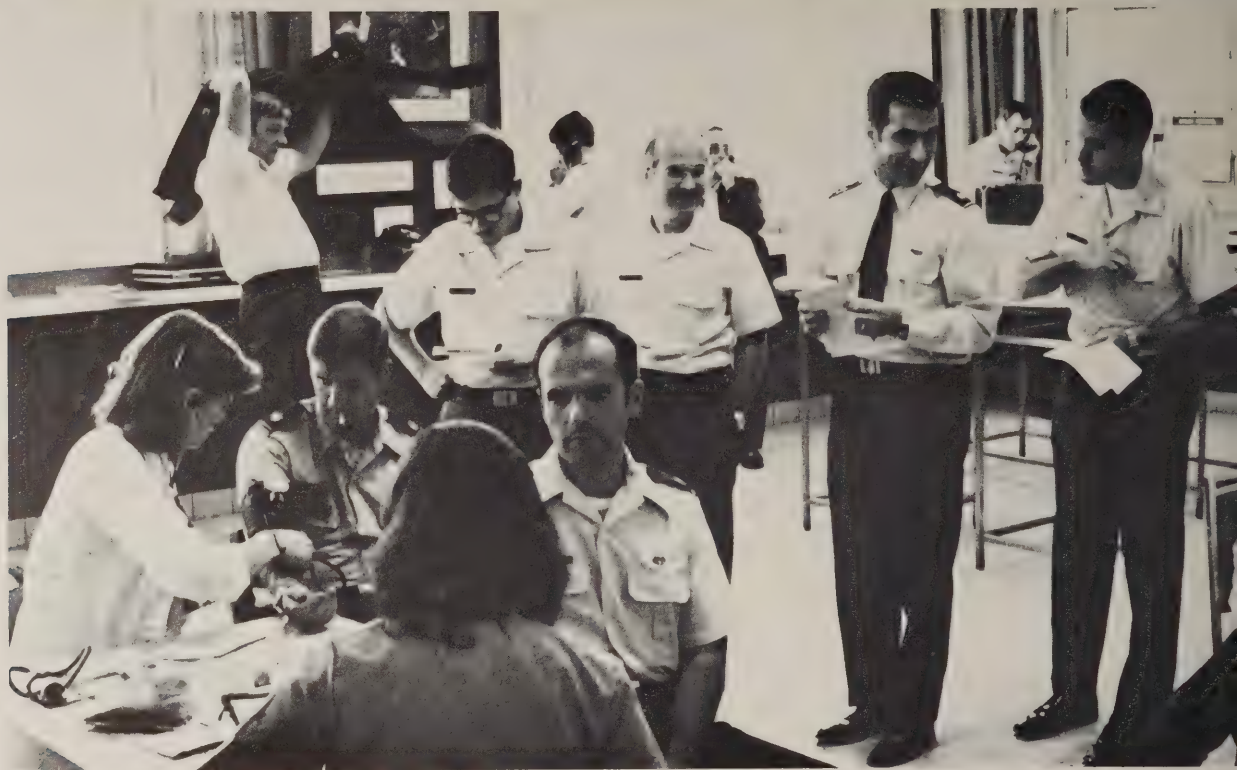

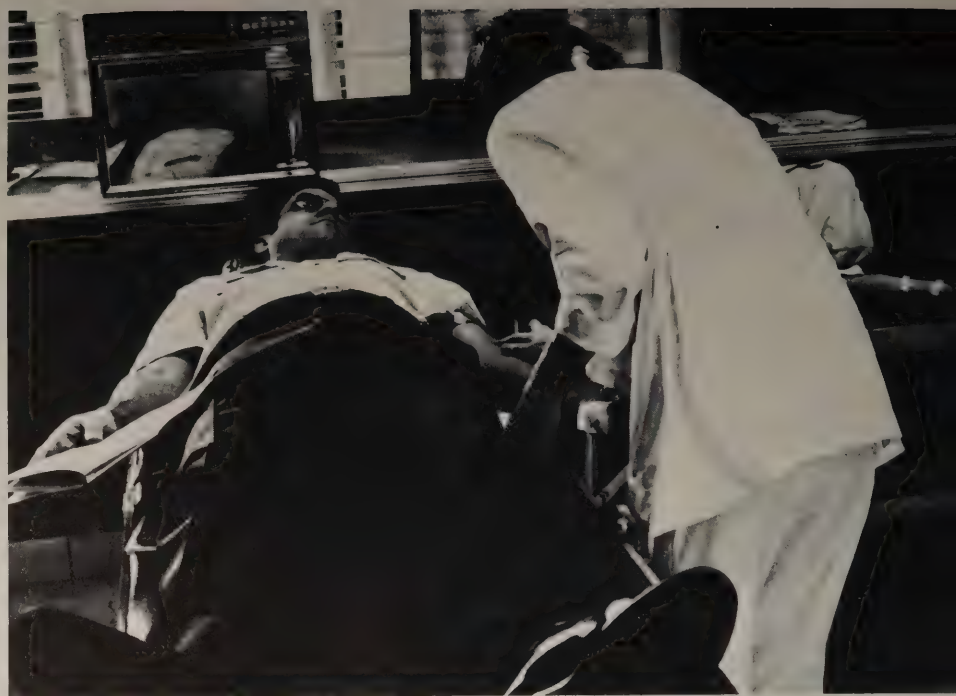

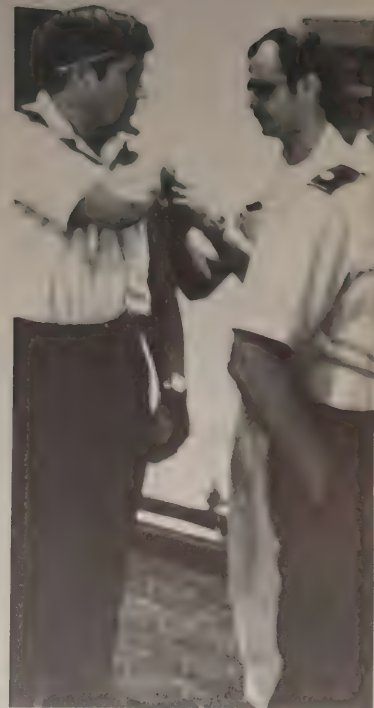

We gave the Red
Cross our blood —

ACSC gave us the flu.

ROOM

PARTIES —
— and other happenings

— and times to relax.

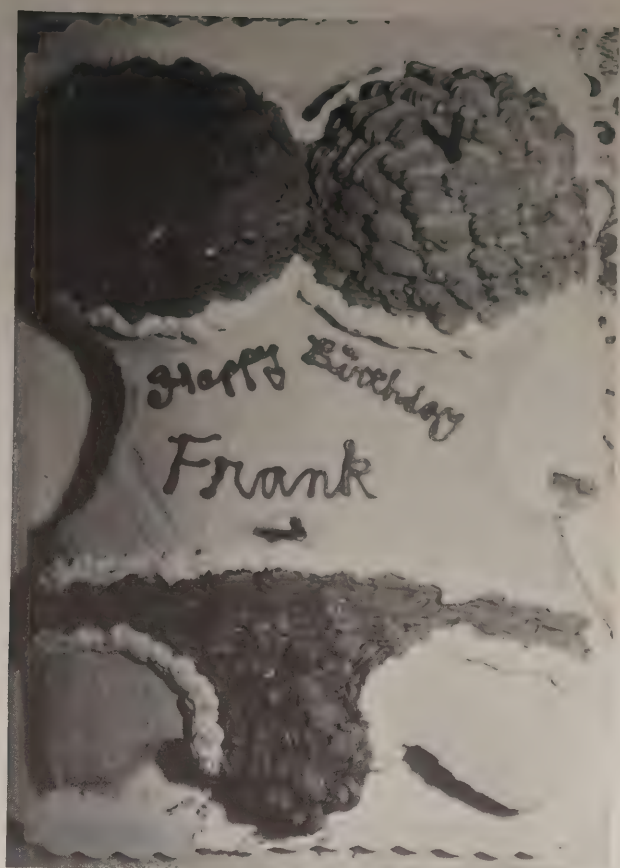

Dinner at Marengo Plantation

Dinner at Mrs. Burton's

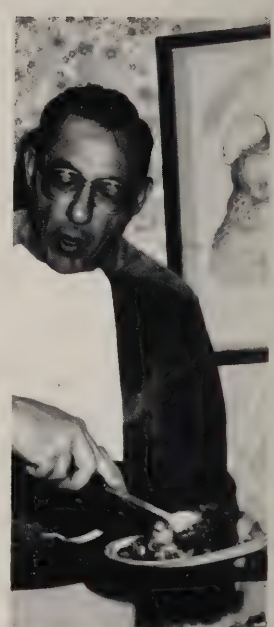

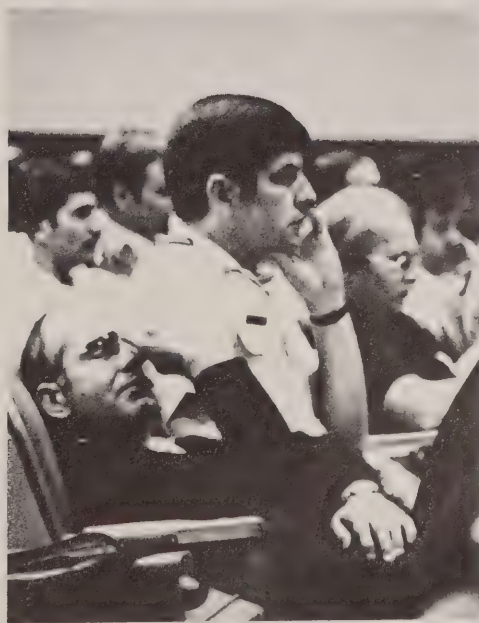

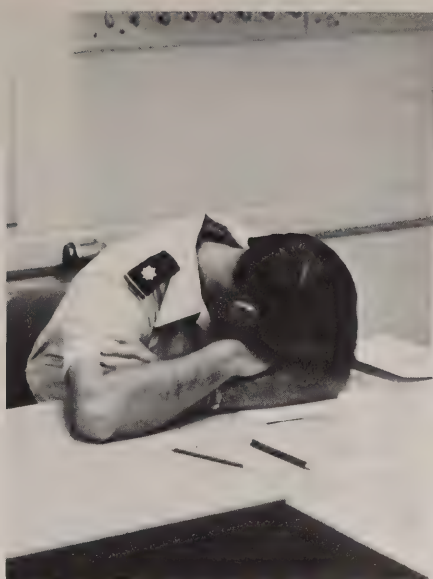

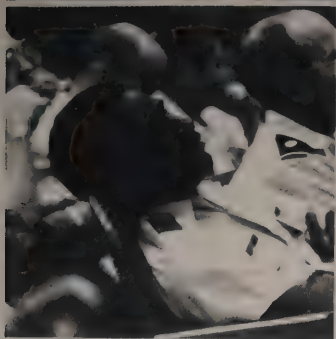

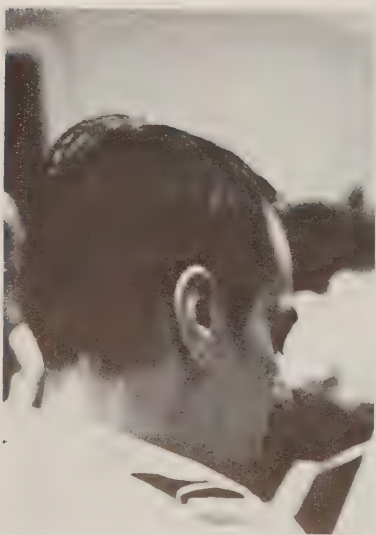

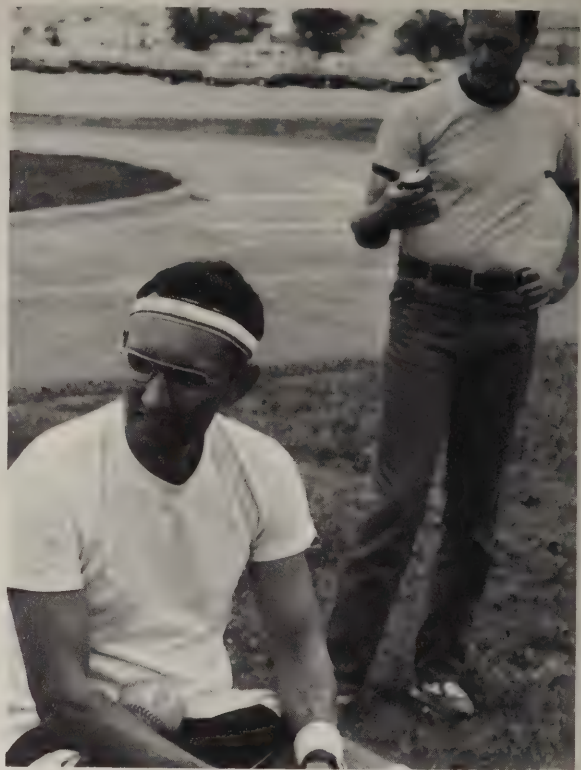

Other important activities at ACSC were eating —

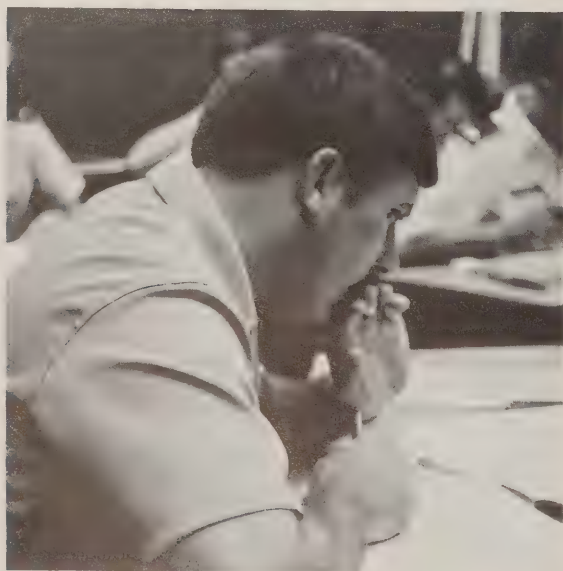

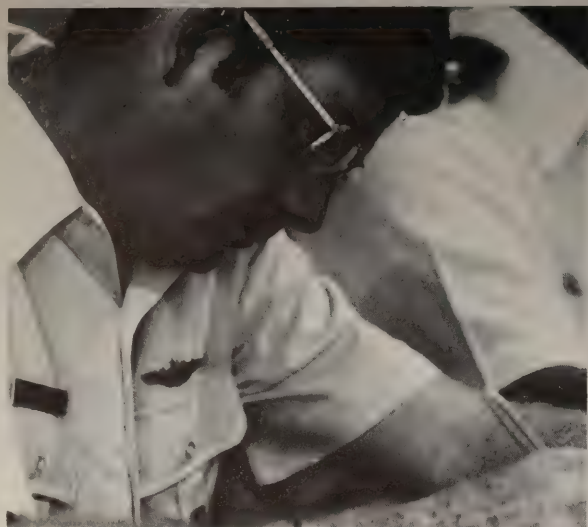

— and sleeping.

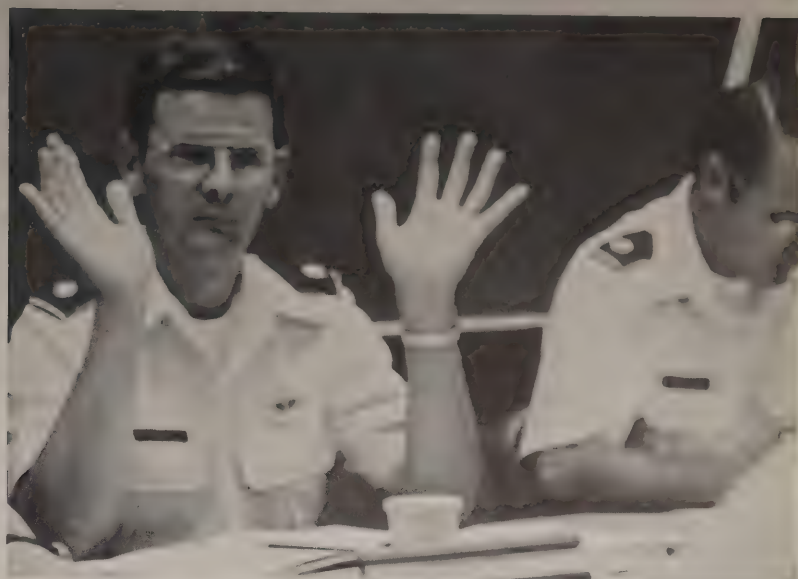

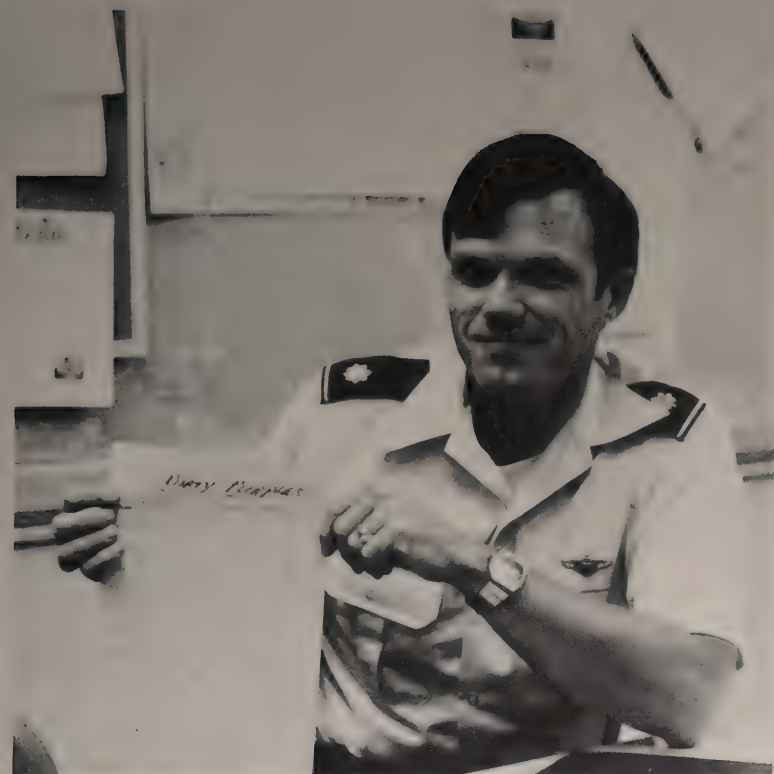

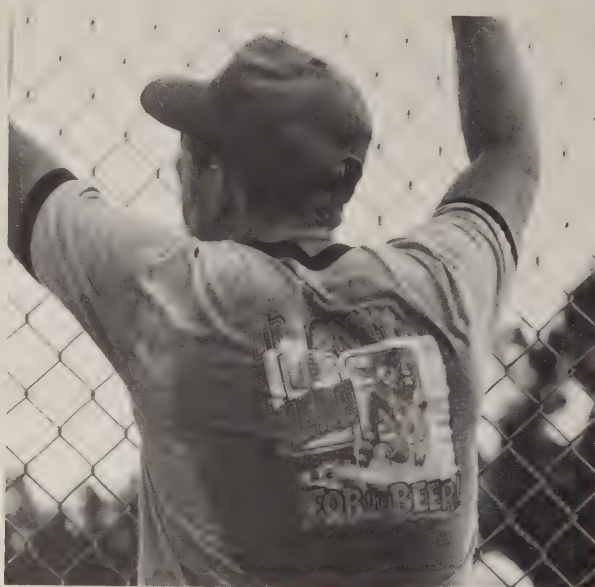

Testing was a necessary evil —

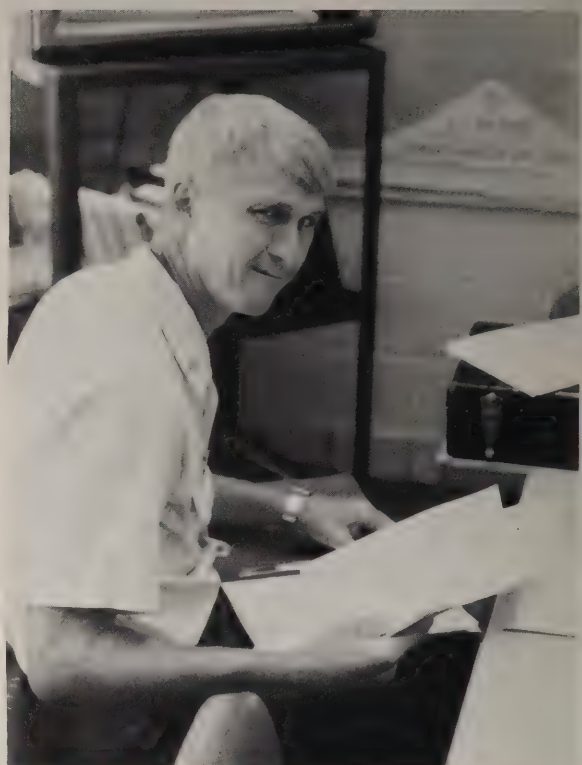

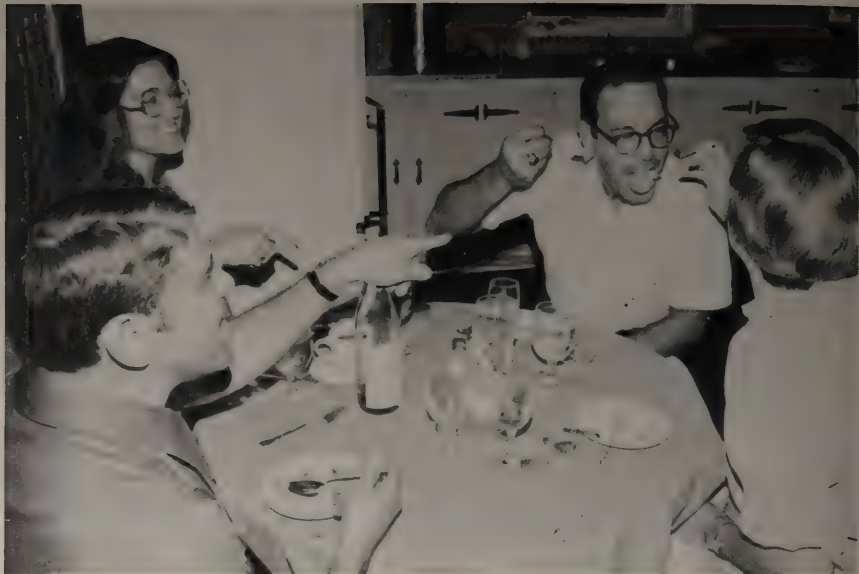

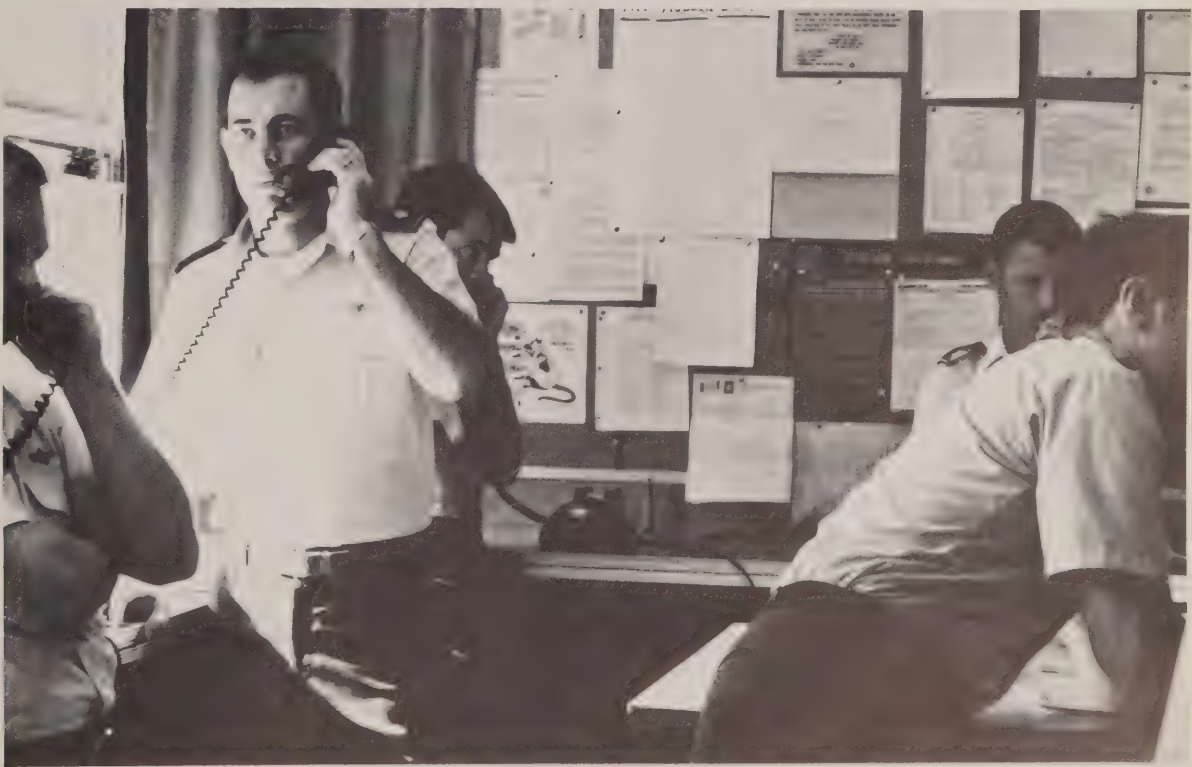

— but some were not concerned.

Digital Technology for Avionics of the 80's

Today's military pilots need their on-board computers more than ever to help them navigate, automate weapons delivery, and access real-time mission information. This means the need to improve reliability and performance margins in avionics systems has increased. So has the need to reduce spiralling life-cycle costs.

That's why TRW has been working with the Department of Defense and NASA to apply digital technology to avionics—developing a wide range of advanced systems for air and space applications. Take DAIS, for example, the Air Force's Digital Avionics Information System. Since 1975, TRW has supported DAIS with advanced simulation technology, analytical and test software, and avi-onics integration and analysis. Programs like DAIS, investigating standard architectures and interfaces promise to reduce life-cycle costs in the acquisition and support of future systems.

We're also assisting the AF Logistics Command in applying digital technology to the development of Integrated Support Facilities for the F-4, F-15, and E-3A aircraft.

In the Electronic Warfare arena, we're helping to develop an in-theater reprogramming capability to ensure that critical mission data is always accurate and up-to-date.

We're also at work in space, developing advanced flight software for IUS, HEAO, and the TDRS system.

If you'd like to learn more about digital avionics technology at TRW, contact: Richard Maher, 1 Space Park, Redondo Beach, Ca., 90278. Phone (213) 536-3238.

DEFENSE AND SPACE SYSTEMS GROUP

IF HUGHES AIRCRAFT DOESN'T BUILD AIRPLANES, WHAT DOES IT BUILD?

Spacecraft. Leasat, the first satellite designed specifically for launch from NASA's Space Shuttle, will provide worldwide telecommunications services to the U.S. Department of Defense beginning in 1982. Hughes also developed Marisat for Navy fleet communications, as well as commercial satellites for Canada, Indonesia, Intelsat, Satellite Business Systems, Western Union, and telephone companies. In addition, Hughes builds weather satellites and scientific spacecraft for NASA.

Defense Systems. The U.S. Army's Firefinder radars are designed to locate the source of enemy weapons fire. The AN/TPQ-36 was developed for mortar shells, the TPQ-37 for long-range artillery fire. Related Hughes programs include NATO's NADGE network, the Joint Surveillance System for North America, air defense systems, consoles, ship-board defense systems, sonar systems, and torpedo electronics.

Airborne Radar.

The AN/APG-65 radar system was developed under contract to McDonnell Aircraft Company for the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps F/A-18 Hornet fighter. It tracks as many as 10 targets simultaneously and creates ground maps with incredibly small detail. The heart of the system is a programmable signal processor — a high-speed, special-purpose digital computer. Hughes also builds the F-15's radar and the F-14's weapons control system.

Electro-Optical Systems.

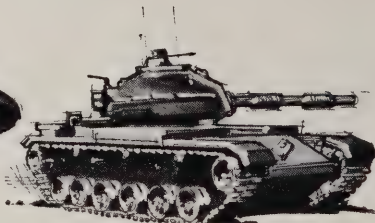

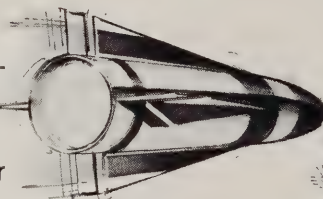

The TRAM Detecting and Ranging Set is carried by the U.S. Navy's A-6E Intruder. TRAM (Target Recognition Attack Multisensor) consists of a forward-looking infrared (FLIR) sensor, a laser designator-ranger, and a laser receiver mounted in a precision-stabilized turret. Once the bombardier locates a target on the FLIR, he aims and locks on a laser beam for a laser-sensing weapon to follow to the target. Hughes also builds laser designators, rangefinders, and tank fire control systems for the Army and Marine Corps, as well as airborne TOW equipment.

Missiles.

The television-guided Maverick missile was built for the U.S. Air Force for use against ground targets like bunkers, tanks, and radar or missile sites. Two new guidance systems are being developed — an imaging infrared seeker and a laser-seeking system. Equally vital Hughes missile systems include Phoenix, TOW, and U.S. Roland.

And a great deal more. Over 1,500 advanced technology programs at last count. For space, air, sea, and land programs throughout the world. But no airplanes.

The AN/APG-66 Radar— It's Hard to be Humble.

The F-16's APG-66 fire control radar is getting high praise from pilots for its performance, operability, and availability. Operational experience is showing that this radar far exceeds previous systems in critical areas such as very low false alarm rate and reliable detection and tracking. The APG-66 is a perfect match for the F-16, and we're making sure it stays that way by developing radar modifications necessary to meet extended mission requirements. Incorporation of a Programmable Signal Processor (PSP) and Dual Mode Transmitter will enable the F-16 to fully exploit the capabilities of AMRAAM, as well as providing extensive software growth potential for both air-to-air and air-to-surface missions as new requirements are defined.

In development for over a year, these modifications have now been authorized by the U.S. Air Force for full-scale development by Westinghouse. The PSP, a fourth-generation design, offers an unmatched degree of modularity and software flexibility. The innovative transmitter design permits optimum waveform control for true multi-mode multirole performance.

Together with the PSP, it significantly enhances detection range, provides unique electronic counter countermeasures (ECCM) capabilities and greatly expanded multiple target engagement capability.

Thanks to the modular structure of the present radar, the new capability is available in the same form factor as present, resulting in earlier operational availability and easy retrofit.

The F-16 radar. The best is yet to come!

We design it. We produce it. We support it.

We are proud to say . . .

OURS IS THE LARGEST AND OLDEST ASSOCIATION OF ITS KIND

A HISTORY OF NON-PROFIT SERVICE

Founded in 1947, the Armed Forces Relief and Benefit Association has continuously provided low-cost group term life insurance and related benefits for the welfare and financial security of its Members and their families. More than $5.8 Billion of insurance protection is in force on these Members and more than $100 Million has been paid out in benefits during the Association's history.

OVER 110,000 MEMBERS

The more than 110,000 Members of AFRBA makes our Association the largest of its kind. Many of these Members are our strongest "boosters" and have introduced a large number of their associates to AFRBA so that other military families can enjoy the same low-cost group term life insurance benefits they have.

FAMILY PROTECTION FOR OFFICERS AND SENIOR ENLISTED PERSONNEL

All of our insurance programs are available to Active Duty Officers and Senior Enlisted Personnel (E7-E9). Depending upon your age, these programs include up to $200,000 of Basic and Supplemental Life Insurance Coverages, plus Dependents Life Insurance for the entire family—all for the lowest net cost available today!

WORLD-WIDE LIFETIME PROTECTION

With AFRBA, your insurance protects you anywhere in the world. And, there is no war clause. In addition, you can continue your Membership and insurance protection under a special program after you retire or separate from the Service.

RELIABILITY

All insurance programs provided by the Armed Forces Relief and Benefit Association are underwritten by the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and the State Mutual Life Assurance Company. Both are among America's oldest and strongest Companies, with combined insurance in force in excess of $100 Billion.

CALL TOLL FREE: (800) 424-8084

LOW NET COST PROTECTION

The low-cost insurance plans available with AFRBA are an even better value because of the Association's history of cash refunds. Although refunds cannot be guaranteed, the Armed Forces Relief and Benefit Association has paid refunds every year since its founding in 1947 . . . 34 consecutive years!

PERSONAL PROMPT SERVICE

AFRBA Members frequently take the time to praise the personalized and prompt service provided by the dedicated Staff of the Association. This relatively small group of individuals are willing and able to provide you with the service you deserve when you join AFRBA. As an example, the Emergency Death Benefit payment is forwarded to the beneficiary the same day the notice of Death is received by the Association.

FULL FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE

Each year, the Armed Forces Relief and Benefit Association publishes an Annual Report for its Members which reflects the audited income, expenses and retained funds of the Association's operations for the previous fiscal year. This Annual Report, in effect, verifies that the operations and financial management of the Association are in the best interests of the Members.

Compare our coverages and low net cost with other group term life insurance plans available today and you will see how membership with our Association of more than 110,000 Members can be right for you too.

To receive complete information, simply call us toll free. You will receive complete details promptly about our Association . . . the largest and oldest Association of its kind and the choice since 1947. Of course, there is no obligation and no salesman will call.

This Is Where It All Began...

... On March 2, 1910, from Arthur MacArthur Field at Fort Sam Houston. The first military flight west of the Appalachians, was piloted by Lt. Benjamin Foulois.

Just 10 years later, a mile and a quarter south of Foulois' airfield, the National Bank of Fort Sam Houston was founded to specialize in banking for military families.

Today, Fort Sam Bank serves as Worldwide Hometown Bank for thousands of military and civilian families.

There's been a lot of progress since 1910... both in aviation and in banking. Let us show you the improvements in banking. For loans or to open your account, call us.

Enjoy a leisurely cruise on the historic Alabama River

An adventure into the past awaits travelers who cruise the sternwheeler, General Richard Montgomery.

For Public Excursions

Tickets are sold at the pier, located at Riverfront Park at the foot of Commerce Street. No reservations are required for public excursions.

Adults: $3.00 Children: 4-12 $1.50 Children under 4 free with parents.

Special senior citizen and group rates are available.

What comes to mind when you think of a riverboat? The Delta Queen . . . Hammerstein's "Show Boat" . . . bales of cotton . . . Dixieland Jazz . . . In Montgomery, riverboat means the General Richard Montgomery.

The fresh cool air, sweet smells of honeysuckle, and romance of yesteryear's paddlewheel riverboat is yours to enjoy on the General Richard Montgomery. Family, friends, and business associates can now cruise the broad Alabama River at mid-day or twilight to the sound of Dixieland music.

The romance of the riverboat still delights many traditional Southern couples who have thrilled to a once-in-a-lifetime memory of an engagement party, reception, and yes, a candlelight wedding on the General Richard Montgomery.

Memories are also made when Alabama businesses, clubs, and associations charter their meetings, award ceremonies, and installations on board. The Montgomery Riverboat Commission will happily work with you in making special catering arrangements. Private charters are available April through December.
